PUNISH HOARDERS

E. COCHRAN AND CHAS. SHORT MUST PAY RED CROSS $110.

THREE VIOLATED THE LAW

Cited to Appear Before F. P. Robinson, County Food Administrator, Evidence Showed All Guilty.

Found guilty of hoarding flour in violation of the food regulations, Everett Cochran and Charles Short, his father-in-law, living four miles west of Burlington Junction, were ordered Saturday by F. P. Robinson, county food administrator, to return their excess flour and to make substantial contributions to the Red Cross.

Cochran and Short were cited to appear before the food commissioner Saturday afternoon, together with J. W. Cochran, the former's father, all three men charged with hoarding flour in violation of the food laws. The evidence disclosed that Everett Cochran had in his possession six or seven sacks of flour and that within the past ten days had given his father-in-law four sacks. Charles Short was found to have in his possession three or four sacks of flour, and J. W. Cochran had hoarded up between six and seven sacks. It was shown that both men knew the food rules and that their action was a violation of the law. They were both ordered to return the flour to the Zarn Mercantile Company, where it had been purchased, to take a receipt to be delivered to the food administrator. Also Everett Cochran was ordered to make donation within one week of $100 to the Lincoln branch Red Cross auxiliary nearest his home. Short was ordered to donate $10 to the auxiliary nearest his home, and to bring a receipt showing the money had been paid to the county administrator. J. W. Cochran was ordered to return the flour in his possession, no order being given to donate to the Red Cross, as it was shown that he had participated in war activities to the extent of purchases of Liberty Bonds and war savings stamps, and had also been a contributor to the Red Cross.

WILFLEY COMING JULY 24

Junior Senator Will Speak Here—Former Gov. Folk Unable to Come Saturday.

Senator X. P. Wilfley will speak in Maryville on Wednesday afternoon, July 24, according to word received by George Robb Ellison from the Wilfley headquarters today. After the speaking here, Senator Wilfley will go to Mound City, where he will speak that evening.

S. G. Gillam, chairman of the Folk for Senator club of this county, received word from former Governor Folk today that he would be unable to fill his speaking date in Maryville for Saturday, July 20, as had been previously arranged. It is probable that Governor Folk will not come here before the primary unless his friends here think it is necessary.

WOUNDED IN ACTION, DIES

Wm. B. Flanagan, of Conception Junction, Reported Dead by the War Department.

William B. Flanagan, a Nodaway county boy, wounded in action in France, on June 21, is dead of his wounds, being reported in Saturday's casualty list sent by General Pershing.

William B. Flanagan, listed among those who died of wounds received in action, is a son of Mrs. N. T. Tannehill, of Conception Junction. He was 22 years old and enlisted in the marines at Omaha in February of last year. He belonged to the Sixth Regiment, Seventy-fifth company, and sailed February 9. He was slightly wounded in April, but soon recovered. His last injuries were received June 10, and he died on June 13.

His mother received a letter Friday, stating that he was in an American hospital, and was having the best of care. A few hours later she received word of his death. Prior to enlisting he worked in the round house at Conception Junction. He was unmarried.

BOYS MEET "OVER THERE"

Four Maryville Boys Unexpectedly Meet "Somewhere in France" and Recount Their Experiences.

Four Maryville boys very unexpectedly recently met "somewhere in France." In the party were John La Velle, James McMann, Wilfred White, and Leo Knox. The unexpectedness of their meeting combined with their longing to meet someone from the "old home town" made the event one of great joy and pleasure. One of the boys writes back that the meeting with the home boys is the greatest event of his trip and will be one of the cherished memories of his war experiences "Over There." Another boy reports that they were all overcome with feelings of inexpressible joy at the sight of each other and that the recounting of their various experiences was almost like meeting "the old folks back home."

THEY MUST MAKE REPORTS

Farmers Are Required by Law to Make Threshing Reports to Government Agent.

Do all the farmers of Nodaway county know that they are required by law to make a report of the number of bushels of grain threshed and the acreage cut to the government? The farmers are furnished with report books and the necessary blanks to fill out and must secure these and fill them out and return to the authorized government agent in the county. Eighty-two of these books have already been sent out to the farmers over the county. Any farmer who has not as yet received this Threshers' Record Book and the other necessary blanks, may do so by writing to J. M. Huston, Maryville, Mo.

The reports must contain such information as the number of bushels threshed and the acreage cut for the years of 1918 and 1917. The instructions accompany the book and are very clear and easy to understand. J. M. Huston, the government agent stationed at Maryville, is very anxious that the farmers attend to this matter at once.

SCOUTS OFF TO CAMP

ENTHUSIASTIC BUNCH LEAVE EARLY THIS MORNING.

ARE MARKING THE TRAIL

Visitors Who Wish to See the Camp Will Have no Trouble Finding the Way—Plan Plenty of Stunts.

Seventy-five enthusiastic Boy Scouts from Maryville and Ravenwood, who left this morning for their first annual camp, are reported this afternoon to be nearing the camp site on the Nodaway river, about five miles below Skidmore. An advance guard consisting of Assistant Scout Master Jesse Boatman, a cook and four scouts left later on a big truck loaded with commissary and camp supplies, and will have everything in readiness for supper when the troops get in. The scouts will be given their first instruction in tent pitching on their arrival.

Scoutmaster Henry McMulin, and fourteen scouts came over from Ravenwood yesterday afternoon, bringing their trek wagons and camp equipment. Members of the Ravenwood troop were taken home last night by members of the Maryville troops, who entertained them in their homes.

The start was made from Scout headquarters at an early hour this morning, and it was expected that by hiking light camp would be reached late in the afternoon. A truck and trek wagons will carry the heavy equipment, the Scouts being obliged to carry only canteens and haversacks.

Arrangements were made to mark the trail to the camp from Maryville so that persons who may desire to visit the camp may be able to find the way. Signs bearing the words, "Scouts' Camp," followed by a hand pointing the direction, will be tacked at every corner and turn of the road. Parents who wish to send mail to the boys are directed to address it "Rural Route No. 2, Skidmore, care Fred Dyson." The camp is on the Dyson farm on a bluff overlooking the Nodaway river.

On Wednesday afternoon J. O. Miller and Rev. Davidson, of Skidmore, will arrive in camp, accompanied by thirty Skidmore boys and will remain in camp until the following evening. They will bring their own camp supplies and equipment. Most of the boys are members of Mr. Miller's Sunday school class, and will organize a Scout troop while at the camp, getting instruction on organization and other details from scoutmasters of the Maryville troops.

On next Sunday the Scouts will have regular Sunday services in camp with Sunday school in the morning and some interesting talks and music in the evening. In the afternoon Rev. C. Emerson Miller, pastor of the First Christian church, has promised to present an interesting phase of boy life. Arrangements will be made to take for a large number of visitors during the day, as many have expressed their intention of visiting the camp.

ANOTHER TRAINING CALL

Volunteers Will Be Accepted for Special Service—31 Boys to Leave Here July 25.

The local draft board received today calls for men who have had at least a grammar school education or its equivalent, and who have some aptitude for mechanical work, for instruction as machinist, blacksmith, gas engine men, carpenters, draftsmen, electricians and benchworkers. There are three calls—one for 275 men, 125 and 282. Nodaway's quota will be about will be about ten. They are to be sent to St. Louis.

The board will receive volunteers for this service. The 1918 registrants can also enlist for this service, but no registrant of this class shall be involuntarily inducted under this call.

The next contingent of drafted boys composing 61 will leave here on the afternoon Burlington train on Thursday, July 25.

Will Motor to St. Louis.

C. C. Hellmers, manager of the Maryville Electric Light & Power Co., together with his wife and children, will leave tomorrow for a motor trip to St. Louis. The Hellmers family expect to be gone a week.

Miss Grace McAnulty of St. Joseph is the guest of Maryville friends.

NO EVENING SERVICES

Christian and Presbyterian Churches to Do Away With Sunday Night Worship During August.

No union Sunday evening service will be held during the month of August, it was decided at a meeting of the Ministerial Alliance this morning. The Christian and Presbyterian churches will not hold any Sunday evening service during next month, and the Methodist churches will probably adopt the same plan. As August is the closing month of the conference year for both the First M. E. church and the South M. E. church, the pastors of these churches were unable to announce denitely today about holding evening service.

HOSMER A DIRECTOR

ELECTED AS MEMBER OF BOARD OF THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

TO ATTEND EXERCISES

Merchants Are Urged to Close Stores for One Hour Wednesday for Class Play at the Normal.

R. P. Hosmer was elected a member of the board of directors of the Commercial Club to succeed Captain C. T. Bell, who is now stationed at El Paso, Texas, at a meeting of the board this noon. Mr. Hosmer was appointed by President George Robb Ellison as chairman of the agriculture committee.

President Richardson, of the State Normal school, invited the merchants of the city, through the club, to attend the play day exercises at the school Wednesday afternoon. The board recommended that the merchants close their stores from 2:45 to 3:45 o'clock that afternoon so that they might attend. A service flag, containing 130 stars, will be raised at these exercises, and W. A. Blagg will give an address.

The board discussed the matter of keeping the white way lights on. The city announced recently on account of lack of funds only the top light will be kept on with the exception of Saturday nights, when all lights will be on. The matter was turned over to the city welfare committee to see if arrangements can be made to keep all the lights on.

The matter of cutting the weeds was brought up and it was also referred to the city welfare committee. There is a city ordinance about cutting weeds, and the city authorities intend to see that it is enforced.

Some complaint has been made in regard to smoke stacks in the business district of the city. It was suggested that an ordinance be framed by the city permitting only certain height smoke stacks.

TO THE CAMERON MEETING

Dr. Cox, Dr. Burris, Misses Irwin and Hulet to Epworth League Institute This Week.

Dr. G. S. Cox, Misses Ruby Irwin and Wave Hulet left this afternoon for Cameron, where they will attend the Epworth League institute, in session all this week. Dr. W. F. Burris went to Cameron this morning for the meeting. Dr. Burris is on the program for a talk on the general league methods. Dr. Cox will give a lecture before the institute tomorrow.

CONCEPTION TEAM DEFEATED

Maryville Nine Scores a 6-5 Victory Over Conception in Clean, Snappy Game.

Maryville defeated Conception Sunday at the Federal park in a snappy game, 6-5. Conception started the game with a rush, rolling up three tallies in the first inning. After the initial rally by Conception Maryville forged to the front and held the visitors throughout the game. Conley, on the mound for Maryville, allowed six hits and walked one member of the opposing nine. Frank Ham, pitching for Conception, was wild at times, walking four Maryville players, and allowing eight hits, two of which were home runs. Conley, Adle and Mayes starred at the bat for the home team, Conley and Mayes completing the circuit once each, while Adle lined out a nice three-base hit.

CORN PROSPECT FINE

CONDITION OF CROP IN MISSOURI IS 91 PER CENT.

HEAVY ACREAGE HERE

Corn Was Well Worked and Is Clean, With Good Stand—Gardens Injured by Drought.

The Missouri crop report for July, issued jointly by E. A. Logan, field agent of the United States Bureau of Crop Estimates, and Jewell Mayes, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, shows corn prospects more promising than last year. Corn condition is 91, against 88 last month, 87 in July, 1917, and 82 average. The indicated production is 225,022,000 bushels, against 222,442,000 last July, and the average yield of 171,046,000.

The Missouri corn crop is growing upon 7,272,850 acres, against 7,200,000 acres in 1917 and 7,094,000 average. The acreage would have been increased more except for the late wet spring in Southeast and South Central Missouri, where counties, with a large wheat crop, the acreage is not up to usual, but the north third of the state has a heavy increase ,applying especially to the northeastern and north central sections, which are not heavy wheat growers and went strongly to corn.

Good Stand of Corn.

Corn was well worked and is clean with generally a good stand in all sections. Cultivation is practically finished everywhere except in the southeast, where the plant is smaller than usual, due to late season, but is making rapid growth. Western and southwestern corn was retarded by dry weather of June.

Hot winds burnt the outer blades in various sections of the state, not damaging the crop seriously, however. Recent showers relieved many points. The plant is much farther advanced than this time last year in the northern part of the state, and in the northeastern section the crop is more promising than for the past several years. With a normal season, the yield should exceed the 252 million bushels of 1917.

The acreage of corn in the United States is 113,835,000, against 119,755,000 in 1917 and 105, 566,000 for the average. The condition is 87.1 against 81.1 in 1917, 83.6 for average, and indicating 3,160,000,000 bushels against 3,159,494,000 in 1917 and 2,761,252,000 for the average.

Oats Lose Points.

Missouri oats lost 10 points in June. Condition 83, indicating yield 42,379,800 bushels. Condition of oats in United States is 85.5; indicated yield, 1,437,000,000 bushels.

Condition of wheat is 94 against 96 in June, indicating 48,154,300 bushels. Spring wheat 91, indicating 178,200 bushels. Missouri wheat production, 48,332,500. Winter wheat in the United States 557 million spring wheat 334, a total of 891 million bushels. Wheat stocks on farms lowest ever known July 1.

The condition of hay is 73, against 80 in 1917 and 76 for average. Crop generally poor, good only in the southeast. Yield indicated, 1 ton per acre. Timothy 70, clover 88, alfalfa 91, millet 82, sorghum for forage 87. Too dry for all hay crops.

Pastures suffered terribly in June, now 72 against 90 June 1 and poorer than May 1. In the west district, cattle are being shipped.

Drought Hurts Gardens.

Gardens suffered severely from drought and hot winds in June. Potatoes 70, lost 27 points during month. Indicated yield, 7,308,700. Sweet potatoes 88, indicating 774,400 bushels. Tomatoes 87, cabbage 82, onions 90, watermelons and cantaloupes 75.

Condition of flax for seed 85, tobacco 85, broom corn 88, sorghum cane for syrup 85, indicating 2,120,000 gallons of molasses. Apples, condition 48, pears 40, blackberries and raspberries 55, peaches failure.

The contribution of Missouri to the cereal food supply of the nation and its Allies is growing upon 11,652,800 acres; at present indications will yield 316,710,000 bushels, or 100 bushels per person in the state. White and sweet potato production, 8,083,000 bushels; wool, 10,250,000 pounds, and cotton, 36,000,000 pounds.

Mrs. Martha T. Denny returned yesterday from Des Moines, Ia., where she spent two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Donald Cady. Mrs. Cady accompanied her mother to Maryville for a visit.

60 TODAY'S CASUALTY LIST

Last Week's List Increases Our Losses in Army and Marine Corps Overseas to 11,793.

Washington, July 15.—Sixty casualties were announced by the war department today. Fourteen were killed in action, seven died from wounds, seven from disease, one from accident, twenty-eight severely wounded, and three missing in action.

Casualties in the army and marine corps overseas increased 647 during the week, compared with 703 the previous week, and aggregate 11,793, with the inclusion of today's army list.

Total deaths, including 291 men lost at sea, men killed in action, died of wounds, disease, accident and other causes, number 4,702—army men, 4,129; marines, 573. The wounded aggregate 6,504—army men, 5,459; marines, 1,045. Those missing, including prisoners, total 655—army men, 594; marines, 61.

NAMES TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Every Person Connected With German Propaganda in This Country Will Be Announced.

New York, June 15.—The name of every person connected with German propaganda in this country will shortly be made public by the government. The workings of the entire Teuton organization is now known to federal agents. Several Americans are declared to be mixed up in the affair, and their names will be made known along with the others.

ABOUT THE WAGON BEDS

Some time ago I published an urgent request that farmers use tight-bottom racks in handling grain, but in inspecting the threshing I find only a few have complied.

I received this morning from the chief of the threshing division of food administration, positive orders that tight racks must be used, and that those neglecting to use them are liable to prosecution for waste under the following sectio nof the food laws:

"It is hereby made unlawful for any person, knowingly, to waste or wilfully to permit preventable destruction of any necessaries."

The penalty for violation of this act is a fine of not more than $5,000, or not more than two years' imprisonment, or both such fine and imprisonment.

I am also instructed to report for prosecution all persons not complying with this order.

Better get busy at once and put a tight board or canvas bottom in that old rack, with a railing around it, then sweep up the racks as often as necessary. You willl be surprised at the amount of grain you save and wonder why you haven't done this long ago. Also see that your wagon boxes are tight and your bins tight, with a good roof over them.

It has been reported that you would not be permitted to stack your grain. This is just more fool German propaganda. Of course, you can stack your grain if you wish, and it ought to be done if you are unable to thresh soon, but try and do a good job of stacking.

Yours truly,
F. P. ROBINSON,

SEND TWO TO ST. JOSEPH.

County Court Orders Two Insane People Removed to St. Joseph.

The county court met in session today and adjudged Harmon C. Reeder of Hopkins insane and ordered him taken to St. Joseph Asylum No. 2. Mr. Reeder was an inmate two years ago at the St. Joseph asylum.

Mrs. George Applegate of Hopkins was also adjudged insane and ordered removed to the St. Joseph asylum. This is the third time that Mrs. Applegate has been placed in that institution by the county court.

THE GERMANS LAUNCH FIFTH DRIVE TODAY

AMERICANS CAUGHT IN SWEEP OF NEW DRIVE

Foch Has Sufficient Forces Available to Maintain Present Positions if He Believes Best Police to Pay the Price.

Paris, July 15.—Striking out in the new offensive with fury that equalled, if not surpassed, that of the previous drive on the Western front this year, the Germans today forced a crossing of the Marne river and in the meanwhile are delivering hard blows against the French in the Champagne district, east of Reims.

The battle of Reims indicated the Germans may try to break through, using higher ground around Reims to protect their flank. It is too early to be absolutely certain that this is the main German effort, but apparently the immediate object of the Germans is to detach Reims.

The new offensive was launched at 6 o'clock this morning and emplacement of fifty pontoons enabled the Germans to receive overpowering enforcements, but the Americans counter attacked, liberating their comrades who previously had been captured, and taking a few German prisoners.

The German attack at Vaux, held by the Americans west of Chateau Thierry was a feint. The Germans succeed in getting temporary footing in the village, but the Americans delivered counter thrust, which drove them out. The Americans then established new lines a quarter of a mile in advance of their old positions, capturing some prisoners .The assaults were preceded by terrific bombardment of gas and high explosives. The Germans assaulted Champagne also, but the French and American supports are holding out firmly.

Paris, July 15.—The fifth great German offensive of the year was launched today upon the fifty-mile front from Chateau Thierry on Marne river, to Main de Massiges, in the Champagne district. The Americans were caught in the sweep of the new German drive.

Violent fighting is still raging, but the French are sustaining their positions with great gallantry, the war office announced, at noon. The German attacks were preceded by can-

Soldier's Letters

The following letter is from Richard Ryan in France to his father and mother in Maryville. He says that he never felt better in his life than when fighting in the trenches and that the "feed" given the soldiers by the Red Cross while in the trenches was of the best.

Somewhere in France, June 25, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother:

How are you? I am feeling fine. How is everything in old Maryville, and what does everyone think of the war?

We just came out of the trenches. That is about all I can say, but I sure wish I could tell you all about it, but you know that is impossible. I never felt better in my life, but of course it was a little exciting at first. However, the outfit had been in before, and I had old heads around me and everything went fine. How I wish I could tell you of our success.

Well you can tell the folks I have been in Paris and intend to be there again soon.

If anybody asks you to contribute to the Red Cross don't hesitate, because they sure gave us a good feed while we were in the trenches. It was mostly sweet things, and that is just what we wanted. We got some jam, peaches, apricots, chocolate, nuts, canned cream and several good things.

We brought down a German airplane today. We had an observation baloon up, and the "Bosche" tried to bring it down, but our anti-air craft gun got him first.

I think this is about all now for it is almost chow time. If you don't hear from me very often, please remember my mind is always with you all.

Your loving son,
PVT. RICARD J. RYAN,

P. S. I am writing this letter on a cigar box in my dog tent, so you know one can't help scribbling. Tell dad I am writing with a French carpenter pencil.

HUSBAND SAVES WIFE

From Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused backache and headaches. A friend called my attention to one of your newspaper advertisements and immediately my husband bought three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me. After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused by that weakness are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JAS. ROHRBERG, 620 Knapp St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Women who suffer from any form of weakness, as indicated by displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should accept Mrs. Rohrberg's suggestion and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a thorough trial.

For over forty years it has been correcting such ailments. If you have mysterious complications write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn Mass.

IN SOME HARD FIGHTING.

Chas. H. Williams, of Burlington Junction, Been in France Almost Year.

The following letter was written by Charles Hubert Williams to his grandfather, S. H. Williams, of Burlington Junction. Young Williams, who is now 18 years old, enlisted in the army a year ago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, of Burlington Junction.

Somewhere in France, June 6, 1918.

Dear Grandpa:

Well, I suppose you will be surprised when you get this letter. I am all right and hope you are the same. Have been in France since last August. I have seen lots of things and will see lots more.

How is everything in the States? How is Edna May? Is she going to school? Have heard from John lately. It has been about two months since I got his last letter. Are they taking any of the boys around home?

I have taken out $10,000 insurance. I expect it will be a long time before I come back home. It has been nice weather here. We have been in some hard ghting.

Write and let John know you got this letter.

I must close now.

AT THE BIG TENT.

Stock Company Arrives for Week's Run—"The Girl He Couldn't Buy" Tonight.

Dubinsky Bros. Stock Company, which opens a week's engagement in Maryville tonight, arrived in the city late Sunday. The tent is being erected on the show grounds on East Third street, and it is announced by the management that everything will be in readiness for the opening as scheduled. It is also announced that this company is the original of the Dubinsky troupes, it being the same company that played at the Tootle theatre in St. Joseph for the past two seasons. The line of plays promised this season are entirely new, as well as the vaudeville numbers, of which there are ten acts in all.

The opening play for tonight is a comedy drama bearing the title, "The Girl He Couldn't Buy." This is not a white slave play, as the title might imply, but on the contrary, it tells an interesting story of big city life, unraveling many surprising situations and interspersed throughout with a wonderful vein of "up to the minute" comedy.

A Hawaiian orchestra of eight pieces will render musical selections in overtures and between the acts, playing good old American tunes in addition to their native Hawaiian music.

Don't Let Catarrh Drag You into Consumptio

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jells and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood. WHAT WILFLEY DID DO.

Senator Wilfley has issued a long statement in defense of his action in signing a German propaganda telegram to President Wilson. It is not so much a defense of that unfortunate act as an effort to show that his general stand for Americanism has been so strong that it ought to palliate this one lapse. But it does not palliate. Where 100 per cent Americanism is demanded no person who at any time lent the use of his name and influence to the German campaign to keep the United States out of the war and thus make a victory for German autocracy certain, can truly represent the people of Missouri in the United States Senate.

Senator Wilfley has much to say about what he "would have done" had he been in the Senate at various times. They are all excellent things to have done. Probably now, in the light of what has happened the past year and his awakened intelligence of the absolute need of the United States going into the war he tried to keep us out of, he "would do" those things, but that does not prove that then he "would have done" them. The fact is that he "did do" something which in spirit was contrary to them.

At the time of the entry of this country into the war to "make the world safe for democracy" was imperative, when German assault upon both our national rights and honor and upon civilization had passed the point where we could further endure them and discharge our duty as a nation to the world, the German propagandists made one last great effort to prevent us from doing our duty, and in that effort Senator Wilfley joined. It was not an insidious, subtle, indirect effort, but an open and public one instituted and managed—and largely paid for—by German agents in this country. Senator-to-be Wilfley permitted his name to be used, and now he must endure whatever odium attaches to it. Whether he now repents that lapse from the highest ideals of Americanism, or whether he seeks to justify and excuse it—which is what his statement undertakes to do—cannot alter the fact itself, and that fact makes him impossible as a representative of the spirit and the people of Missouri.—From St. Louis Star, June 22, 1918.

BAUER IS INDICTED FOR ANTI-FOLK CIRCULAR.

The indictment of Ignatius J. Bauer, Deputy Sheriff and secretary of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association, for violating the law forbidding the distributing of anonymous literature attacking a candidate for office, is a logical conclusion of Bauer's foolish and outrageous action.

Bauer's appeal by letters to the retail liquor dealers to defeat Folk for the United States Senatorship, because he had enforced the liquor laws in Missouri, was an extraordinary act of folly and effrontery, so unaccountably vicious and silly that it aroused suspicion of cheap political trickery. His sending out abusive posters was the climax of the outrage.

Nothing has done more to contribute to the prohibition movement than the conduct of some representatives of the saloon and liquor interests. Prohibition started chiefly on account of the disregard of law by saloons and the insolent attempt of some leaders of the saloon and liquor interests to control politics. The movement has been persistently fostered by continued efforts to dominate parties, control legislatures and dictate nominations, frequently by corrupt and tyrannical means. Political revenge campaigns on men who have enforced the laws and regulations concerning the sale of liquor are the limit of impudent folly.—Post-Dispatch, St. Louis.

BACK HOME SOON.

Charles Kinder Writes of Recovery From Slight Wound.

The following letter was written by Charles A. Kinder to his father, Rev. H. A. Kinder, of Maryville. Private Kinder has been in France for some time:

Somewhere in France, June 27, 1918.

Dear Father, Brothers and Sisters:

It is with the greatest of love and pleasure I take my pen in hand to answer your good and welcome letter that I just received. I was glad to hear from you and to hear you were well, but sorry you worked in the garden so hard; you ought not to work hard like that, but you know what you want to do and the Bible says we must earn our bread by the sweat of our brow.

Well, father, dear, I think I will be back in the good old U. S. A. before long. Things look awful favorable now and the Italian soldiers are making the Huns hunt their holes—I mean the Austrian Huns. And they lose every time they attack the Yankees or British or French, so the war can't last much longer. Dave, you told me that report about the German U-boats in the United States waters. You can hear anything; I don't think they have got one there, let alone 100. I wouldn't be afraid to come across in an old sail craft or in a canoe if the U-boats were all I had to look out for.

Say, Dave, you ask me a question that I can't answer in a letter, for it is against orders, but would gladly tell you if I could, but my head is not serious any more and my hair will hide the scar if I let it grow long, and that is good luck, for the scar is 3½ inches long. I was in the hospital better than a month.

I am indeed glad all you folks are well and hope you will continue in good health until I come home, and we spend the happy hours of freedom and victory which there is no doubt will be ours in the future. For after rain comes sunshine and this war has been a rainy spell for the whole world. Won't it be a happy hour when all nations are at peace and the soldiers and sailors can be home again and go to church and Sunday school, and there will be no more killing and wounding of mankind. That will almost be the millenium, where satan will be chained; that will be the next happiness to the gates of heaven opening to the world. Of course, the people at home don't feel the jar, only they miss their loved ones who are in the great field of blood, but the countries that depend on the United States and Great Britain for their daily bread are the ones that feel this war. My prayers are God speed the time when all nations shall sign a national peace treaty and the swords be beaten into plow shares. Say, did you ever commit to memory the 12th Ecclesiastics? Well, that is a picture in my heart and a picture of this war. If you could only imagine the widows and orphans of Europe! Do you remember it said the pitcher broken at the cistern and the windows darkened and the grinders cease grinding, and the mourners go about the streets mourning? Well, that is every word so. Now, what we want is the 24th Psalms.

Well, as it is getting late, I must close for this time and will write more soon. Please answer soon.

From brother and son to father brothers and sister, I remain as ever you soldier boy,

PRIVATE C. A. KINDER.

Leo Knox Writes to Americans—Expects to Finish the Boche in Short Order.

The following letter from Leo Knox, with a motor mechane regiment now in France, has been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Knox:

Somewhere in France, June 16, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother:

Well, I haven't written to you for two weeks. It is so hard to find something to write about, but I think I have some news: The boys are coming in fast, there are infantry men everywhere, a few from Funston.

There will be something doing in a short time. The war is at a standstill at present, but will open in full blast. The boys have the same old American idea, "What is the use to stay over here for two or three years. Why not get it over and go back?" Those are the words of the infantry men, and that means they are not going to play very much.

The Boche planes are getting fewer every day. I saw a French aviator fall. He sure was an "ace." He was severely injured. I don't know whether he lived or not. I have a piece of the plane and a machine gun shell out of the ace's plane.

Everything is O. K. here. Feeling good and have plenty to eat. We are going to have strawberries to eat today. Had eggs for breakfast.

I had a little bad luck last week, dropped a drive shaft sleeve on my foot, jimmied it up a little. It is all O. K. now, and I got a better job out of it, after alll.

I have here a picture of the shop in which I work. She is a machine shop, some knock-out Bud! There are two other shops also. There are some Boches working with the rest of us. You can easily pick them out. I am working in the department on the right side. You can just see a hat sticking out of this picture, but I have a larger one with me in it. The lieutenant in the center is in charge and a few French officers.

Gregory and Fisher are still with me. Feeling good and have lost a little weight, but look fine.

Well, I hope the jitney business is paying good. Would like to take a spin, but you know how it is.

The big ship we came over on was out of luck. Was torpedoed. She was some boat, the old President Lincoln." The sailors said we were some bunch of live wires.

WAR ISN'T SO BAD AFTER ALL.

Cherries and Strawberries Are Ripe in France, Thomas O'Grady Writes.

In a letter to his sister, Miss Ella O'Grady, Thomas R. O'Grady says that prospects are good for "things getting better," and that war is not a bad thing after all. His letter follows:

Somewhere in France, June 14, 1918.

Dear Sis:

I guess I'll have a little time to write this morning. I got your letter yesterday, the first direct letter I have gotten from you. It sure seemed good to get some news from home. I would sure like to see some of those fellows you said were over here, but I really don't expect to.

Well, it is afternoon now, and I will try again. We are still having fine weather and the roads are fine, except the bad ones. The cherries and strawberries are ripe, but someone usually beats me to them, but I guess I get mine on the eats.

I suppose you think the lead and steel are flying around me now, but not so bad. This business isn't so bad as you might think, and I expect things to get better for us.

I suppose you are driving the sedan now, but I bet you don't go as many miles as I do. I'm afraid you will wish you had the old touring car, but of course, that wil be awfully nice in cold weather.

I don't know what made you think we were on the water twenty days, for we were only about half that time making the trip.

I am glad those pictures were good, and I certainly wish I could take some over here.

Well, Sis, I got a souvenir for you, but doubt if it ever gets to you. I just got back from a trip and stole a little dog, so I've a partner now, day or night.

It is now after 4 p. m., and I started this at 8:30 this morning. I guess I will close while I have a chance, so bye-bye.

Your brother,

nonading of terrific violence.

The front along which the battle is waging stretches from Chateau Thierry eastward, to Dormans, on the Marne, thence in wide semi-circle north of Reims, into the Champagne district.

The American brigades with the French are holding part of the battle line on Chateau Thierry, and eastward on the southern bank of the Marne.

Paris, July 15.—General Foch has sufficient forces available to maintain the present positions, if he believes it the best policy to pay the price. If he doesn't, then the officials say he can be depended on to withdraw his men slowly in good order and in the meanwhile inflicting stupendous losses upon the enemy.

WILFLEY ANSWERS VICIOUS ATTACKS

SENATOR'S WAR ACTIVITIES

Senator Asks Governor When He "Quit Sympathizing With German Cause" and Gave Any War Service.

The vicious and unwarranted attack made upon me by my opponent in his speech in Southeast Missouri, quoted in Sunday papers, creates a situation which I deprecate. To my mind it is regretable that he should seek to conduct this campaign on a plane of misrepresentation and distortion of facts. It seems to me that when the country is making such tremendous sacrifice in defense of a cause that is uppermost in the minds of the people there should be no dissension created, especially for purely selfish purposes.

If I were physically able I should not be here resenting the vicious assaults which have been made upon me for the purpose of tearing down a reputation that comes from generations of patriotic ancestry and devoted service. I would be in the trenches. From the declaration of war I have been engaged in war activities; although I have never heard of my opponent participating in any war activities until he became a candidate for the United States Senate. Now he is seeking to attack my record and my loyalty.

Indorsed Wilson's Policy.

The telegram of March 8, 1917, is incapable of the construction put upon it by my opponent. The purport of the telegram was to indorse the policy of President Wilson in his action to avert the war. That was perfectly consistent with the campaign on which he had been elected with the slogan "He kept us out of war."

When that campaign was conducted Germany had overrun Belgium and had been guilty of all the atrocities of which she now stands convicted before the world. The sinking of the Lusitania had occurred before President Wilson had been re-elected.

The President and Congress had not seen fit on account of these acts to declare war against Germany and the people of the country in November, 1916, approved the policy of staying out of the war in spite of what had happened prior to that time.

No sane man in this country understands and no honest man would charge that by keeping out of the war to November, 1916, the President or Congress or the citizens of this country approved the action of the German government in the invasion of Belgium or the sinking of the Lusitania. We had, nevertheless, not made those circumstances the occasion of entering the war.

The President delivered his famous "Peace Without Victory" speech on Jan. 22, 1917. On Feb. 26, 1917, the President delivered another message to Congress. This was after we had broken diplomatic relations with Germany. In this address the President said: "It is devoutly to be hoped that it will not be necessary to put armed forces anywhere into action. The American people do not desire it and our desire is not different from theirs. I am sure that they will understand the spirit in which I am now acting—the purpose I hold nearest my heart and would wish to exhibit in everything I do. I am anxious that the people of the nations at war also should understand and not mistrust us. I hope that I need give no further proofs and assurances than I have already given throughout nearly three years of anxious patience that I am a friend of peace and mean to preserve it for America so long as I am able. I am not now proposing or contemplating war or any steps that need lead to it."

This was 10 days before the telegram was signed. In his inaugural address delivered the 5th of March, 1917, the President reiterated the same sentiments expressed in his message of Feb. 26, and in addition he said: "We stand firm in armed neutrality since it seems that in no other way we can demonstrate what it is we insist upon and cannot forego."

It was not until after the telegram of March 8 was signed that the President called an extra session of Congress for April 16, 1917. In that call he gave no intimation of any purpose to ask for a declaration of war, on the contrary he gave as his purpose that he might have Congress in counsel on matters pertaining to the merchant marine.

[POLITICAL ADVERTISING]

On March 17, 1917, three American vessels were sunk by submarines and several others shortly thereafter. On March 21, 1917, the President issued his second call for an extra session of Congress, in which he reduced the date from April 16 to April 2, and made it perfectly clear in this call that the situation had grown so serious that war was inevitable. I believe that Woodrow Wilson issued this call on the very day he first realized that war was inevitable, and I do not believe he abandoned hope of averting war until that time. The attack made March 17, 1917, on American vessels was the overt act which resulted in war.

I call upon my opponent to answer whether he considers that the President of the United States was un-American or pro-German when he suggested and declared on Feb. 26 and March 5 and March 10 that he hoped and desired to keep the United States out of the European war. I challenge him to say whether he asserts that the President of the United States put the stamp of his approval upon the crimes against Belgium and the sinking of the Lusitania because he then still cherished the hope that the country might be kept out of the European war, without the sacrifice of honor or the surrender of principles.

Germany and England.

But my opponent points out one sentence in this telegram and charges that it brands the signers of the telegram as pro-German and un-American. The substance of that sentence is that the signers of the telegram considered that the aggression of Germany and England against the law of nations differ only in methods. Following the sentence of which complaint is made and in the same paragraph there is the assertion that the German naval decree followed the English decree closing large areas in the North Sea to neutral shipping, and the notice that mine fields had been placed which endangered neutral vessels which might attempt to sail those seas. It is perfectly absurd and entirely unwarranted to say that the signers of the telegram meant to condone the atrocities of Germany in the sinking of the Lusitania. I DID NOT THEN NOR HAVE I SINCE CONDONED THE GERMAN ATROCITIES; AND MY OPPONENT WELL KNOWS IT. It was no more the purpose to condone these acts of Germany than it was the purpose of the President of the United States when, on Jan. 22, 1917, he delivered to Congress his message in which he declared it was essential to the future peace and welfare of the country that "the war should end without victory to either group of combatants."

When I signed the telegram March 8, 1917, I hoped that the United States might be kept out of war and expressed that hope to the President. I expressly declared to the President that we should be kept out of war only if it could be done without the surrender of principle or sacrifice of honor. My opponent in the race refers to this telegram in the following language: "IF THE KAISER WERE TO LAND AT NEW YORK HE WOULD GREET SENATOR WILFLEY AND HIS FELLOW SIGNERS OF THE TELEGRAM AS HENCHMEN." This charge is made in the face of the fact that my opponent well knows that from the time the Germans committed the overt act which led the President to ask from Congress a declaration of a state of war against Germany I have been active in the prosecution of war activities, and have contributed to the full measure of my ability to the prosecution of the war. I CHARGE THAT EVERY STATEMENT AND EVERY INSINUATION AND SUGGESTION MADE BY MY OPPONENT AND HIS SUPPORTERS THAT I HAVE EVER BEEN UN-AMERICAN OR DISLOYAL IN ANY DEGREE, IS PUT OUT BY THEM WITH THE FULL CONVICTION IN THEIR OWN MINDS THAT THEY ARE INDULGING IN THE MOST OUTRAGEOUS AND MALICIOUS CALUMNY, AND IS NOT MADE BY THEM IN GOOD FAITH.

On Aug. 21, 1917, more than four months after war was declared, my opponent delivered an address at Memphis, Tenn., in which he stated, "as events followed events and the frightfulness of the German military policy became more and more evident, THOSE OF US WHO SYMPATHIZED WITH THE GERMAN CAUSE WERE LITTLE BY LITTLE ALIENATED." I challenge my opponent to answer the people of Missouri upon that statement as to when he ceased to sympathize with Germany. WHEN AND WHERE DID HE CONDEMN UN-AMERICANISM OR DISLOYALTY OR DENOUNCE PEOPLE AS UN-AMERICAN OR DISLOYAL BEFORE HE BECAME A CANDIDATE FOR THE UNITED STATES SENATE?

My opponent is quoted as having said that the telegram which I signed denounced the United States as guilty of ingratitude and injustice should it go to war against Germany. This is a deliberate effort to create a false impression by distorting facts. Another evidence of bad faith is the effort to create the impression that the signers of this telegram met and signed it at the same time. My name is signed near the top of the list, and I had nothing to do with the other signatures.

ALL THE EFFORTS WHICH HAVE BEEN MADE TO DISTORT THE FACTS WITH REFERENCE TO THIS TELEGRAM SHOW A DELIBERATE PURPOSE TO CREATE A FALSE IMPRESSION, WHICH IS BENEATH THE DIGNITY OF A CANDIDATE FOR THE UNITED STATES SENATE.

XENOPHON P. WILFLEY.

1,100,000 NOW IN FRANCE

Washington, July 15.—American fighting forces in France are numerous enough that they have been organized into three complete army corps. These corps comprise 250,000 men each, fighting men, not non-combatants. This information was made public today by General March, chief of staff. General March stated that the movement of troops overseas was proceeding without a letup anywhere. He had no theory dealing with the delay of the Germans in renewing their offensive.

General March let the senate itary affairs committee know the tual number of Americans now France is 1,100,000.

Keep Your Car Up To War Efficiency

The shortage of automobiles and supplies of all kinds makes it necessary to keep your car in good shape at all times to handle your business easily and quickly.

Don't run it with loose, worn or broken parts—that will be likely to cause a general breakdown.

Don't let it go till it requires rebuilding—mechanics are too scarce to put the time on such extensive jobs if it can be avoided.

Have it put in first-class shape NOW—and keep it that way. Bring it to us and we will overhaul it and put it in shape, and we will be glad to tell you anything we can that will help you to keep your car up to war time efficiency.
